LOCAL GATHERINGS.

-Town meeting next Tuesday. -The literature class will meet with Miss Hall, 20 Main street, next Monday at 3 p. m. Topic for study, "Macbeth." -"Birds," a splendid natural history monthly, and Col. Forbes' "Vermonter" have been added to the Athenæum reading room.

-The Mystic club give the members of the Lyndon club a complimentary banquet at the St. Johnsbury House next Tuesday evening.

-The railroad commissioners meet at Morrisville next Thursday to hear all parties concerned on a petition from the patrons of the Lake road for better passenger facilitses through the winter.

-The monthly meeting of the public school teachers will be held tomorrow at 9.30 in the South building, Summer street. The topic to be considered is "Nature Study." Parents and others interested are invited as usual.

-Great preparations are being made for the Academy Glee Club concert which comes next Friday evening. A most interesting programme is assured. Tickets are on sale at Bingham's and Randall's drug stores, or may be obtained from members of the club.

-H. H. Hoffman, who is employed by the St. Johnsbury Electric Company, met with a severe accident Wednesday. He was trimming a pole with a carperter's ax when the tool slipped and cut Mr. Hoffman's knee clear to the bone. He will be laid up a couple of weeks with

-Charles Ehrlich, representing Louis Graner & Co. of New York, will be at James Ritchie's store tomorrow, Feb. 26, with a new spring line of ladies' suits, jackets and wraps. Ladies who remember the goods from this wellknown firm need no assurance of this years's quality and variety.

-The electric light people had another accident last Friday afternoon which crippled the plant for several days. The armature of the new dynamo on the incandescent circuit burned out. Owing to tickets are being sold by the children of Sunday's storm the machinist from Sche- the Union school and may also be obnectady, N. Y., could not reach here until Monday, but the new coils were in purchasing pictures of some kind to be put in place Tuesday and the plant was hung on the walls of each school-room running all right by Tuesday night.

PERSONALS.

-Nine ladies from the Morrisville Woman's club were in town on Tuesday and received calls from ladies of the St. Johnsbury club at the Avenue House. Club matters were discussed in an informal manner. The Morrisville club is a flourishing one, meeting fortnightly and Mrs. P. K. Gleed is the president. -The clever story "The Willow Whistle" on page three of this issue was written by Brittann Streeter of Minneapolis, the 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Streeter, formerly of St. Johnsbury. Miss Streeter is a granddaughter of Mrs. W. W. Wright, who is spending the winter in town.

-Sunday was a raw winter day. Ten inches of snow fell during the day and if it had not rained in the evening there would have been some heavy drifts the next day. There was little delay on the railroad except on the Canadian Pacific through trains. Between Montreal and Toronto the railroad was completely blocked by the storm.

-The chicken pie dinner that the ladies served at Grace Methodist church last Tuesday noon was a misnomer. It was a regular banquet, and besides the chicken pie the bill of fare contained three kinds of puddings, five kinds of pie, coffee and doughnuts. The dinner was very well patronized and the ladies added a handsome sum to their treasury.

-The poster for the "Snow-Cap Sis ters" which has been in the window of the post office for the past week was the work of Philip R. Goodwin, a student at the Academy. Mr. Goodwin is no novice with the crayon or brush and has some very fine sketches and crayons which gives promise of greater work in the fu-

-At the monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. last Tuesday afternoon a memorial service for Miss Willard was conducted by Mrs. Rebecca P. Fairbanks and tributes read from the press. The topic for the meeting was "Social Purity" and Mrs. John H. Drew presented a paper on this subject. A public memorial service in memory of Miss Willard will be held in Music Hall at an early date.

-For the second time this season the patrons of the lecture course were obliged to sit in Music hall last Thurs- the South. day evening when the temperature was hardly warm enough for a barn. Field Day Association Officers .- The Odd Fellows' Field Day association have elected the following officers: President, O. H. Henderson, St. Johnsbury; vice presidents, W. L. Gilman, West Burke, E. W. Powers, Lyndonville, F. H. Ranney, St. Johnsbury, W. T. Reed, West Concord, J. F. Aiken, Barnet, S. S. Martin, East Hardwick; secretary, W. B. Stevens, Barnet; treasurer, George W. Knight, Lyndonville; committee on by-laws, L. F. Miner, St. Johnsbury, H. L. Parker, Lyndonville, E. E. McGaffey, Barnet.

Conductors Dropped. - Seven conductors received notice last Friday that their services were wanted no longer and they are at a loss to know why they are discharged. The men are L. F. Edgerton, C. W. Gage and C. T. Bean on the Passumpsic division of the Boston & Maine, and Ethan E. Carr, J. W. Powers, G. B. Clement and Ben Malloy on the Lake road. The move came entirely from the Boston office and some of the men have gone to Boston this week to find out the reason for their discharge Several of the conductors were among the oldest in the service.

The Masonic Reception .- The seventh annual Masonic reception under the auspices of North Star commandery, Lancaster, N. H., will be held at Masonic temple, Thursday evening, March 3, and as usual everyone is cordially invited. Music will be furnished by Eastman's New orchestra of Portsmonth. Lauren B. Whipp of the Lancaster House will cater. The whole bill will be $2 00 per couple. The reputation of these annual receptions is beyond reproach, and the simple announcement of the date is rates on railroads.

The Art Exhibition .- The art exhibition, which Mrs. Titcomb is arranging for in the Museum through next week, promises to be the finest of its kind ever held in St. Johnsbury. The collection includs 100 pictures, half of these being framed black and white sketches loaned by the Century company. The rest are water and oil colors loaned by ladies and gentlemen in town.

The price of admission will be fifty cents for course ticket or twenty-five cents for single admission; children. twenty-five cents for course ticket or filteen cents for single admission. These tained at the Museum.

The proceeds of the exhibit will be used

Bullard vs. Western Telegraph Co., commenced last week Wednesday, was given to the jury Friday and verdict rendered for plaintiff to recover $56 67. Dr. Bullard sued the company for damages, done by improperly trimming and cutting his trees while he was in Europe. The next case was Dr. W. C. Blake vs. L. B. Harris, admr. Mary E. Pettigrew's estate. Dr. Blake presented a bill agains. the estate to the probate court of $1350 for medical services, druggists supplies and for some time managing Mrs Pettigrew's estate. The commissioner reduced the bill to $300 and the administrator appealed from this. Howe, Bates, May & Simonds for plaintiff, Blodgett, Dunnett & Slack for defendant. The defence claimed that there was a settlement between Dr. Blake and Mrs. Pettigrew before the death of the latter and that the doctor was paid everything due him. The case was given to the jury at 5 p. m. yesterday. Case now on trial is State vs. Reuben Perry, charged with stealing a horse. Taylor & Dutton for state, Farnharm & Porter for plaintiff.

Town Affairs. - From advanced sheets from the annual town report it appears that the net expenses of the overseer's department was $5009.75; highways and bridges, $1069.83; officers' salaries and expense, $108.45; state tax, $4090.12; bond redeemed, $5000; special orders, $4494 56; cost of liquor agency, $9333.92; general orders, $3418 33; road commissioner's department, $3272 89. In the report of the school directors, which follows the town report, it appears that the schools cosc the town last year $19,869 16. This was paid out as follows: teachers'salaries, $11,244 31; janitors, $944 99; tuition to the Academy, $3895 96; fuel, $1012.26; conveying scholars, $415.75; repairs, $784 71; supplies, $753.08; general expenses, $818.10. Voters will find the town and school report very interesting reading and it should be thoroughly read. The March meeting comes next Tuesday and the list of candidates has already been posted by the town clerk. On the official ballot appears the name of Lorenzo Sulloway for overseer of the poor and W. H. Preston for collector, Crosby circulated a petition for constable and collector, but neglected to have their signatures sworn to. Hence his name does not appear on the ballot. Those who wish to vote for Mr. Crosby for tax collector should either write his name in or use a sticker. In either case a cross must be placed after his name. The warning for the town meeting contains the usual articles and a new article "to see if the town will vote to abate the poll tax of the members of the Vermont National Guard," as provided by the Vermont Statutes.

Y. M. C. A. Contest .- The contest between the reds and the blues at the Y. Who" has been assigned to a "comedy of M. C. A funeral service was held at St. Andrew's church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by the rector, Rev. M. H. Mill. Loving floral designs and cut flowers were sent by the friends, the Mystic Club and the various Masonic societies of which he was a member. Passumpsic Lodge and Palestine Commandery escorted the body to the grave, where the always impressive burial service was performed.

Mr. Moore was one of the kindest hearted men in town, always ready to lend a nelping hand and full of good cheer. In business and social circles will miss him, and his wife and family have the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of the head of their household.

on Saturday morning that Miss Addie Ide had died it came as a shock to the entire community. Everybody had ex- part of the time with a touch of the pressed the hope that she might live, but it was not so ordered and death came after a severe sickness of typhoid pneumonia of less than three weeks. She went to Morrisville three weeks ago to give a talk upon Samoa before the Woman's Club and was the guest of Mrs. P. K. Gleed, formerly of St. Johnsbury. During the address she felt weak but bravely kept up until the close of the address and was taken sick immediately after. The best of medical skill was summoned, but she passed away at 8 o'clock Saturday morning surrounded by 7.30 p. m. All are cordially invited. her family and friends.

Miss Adelaide Melcher Ide was born in St. Johnsbury 25 years ago and was the oldest daughter of Hon. Henry C. and Mrs. Mary Melcher Ide. Her early life was spent at St. Johnsbury and she was educated at the public schools and St. Johnsbury Academy. She was graduated from the latter institution in the class of 1891, led the ladies in scholarship and delivered the honorary essay commencement day. She spent a year at Wellesley college and when her father was appointed chief justice of Samoa she accompanied him to Apia in the tall of 1893 and spent a most profitable year studying the customs of those interesting people. In the fall of 1894 she returned to America and entered the University of Chicago from which institution she was graduated in 1896. The next year was most profitably spent in Europe, and by study in France, Germany and Italy she mastered those languages and added a bread h of culture which would come from such extended travels by such an intelligent lady. She met her father in Italy last summer on his return from Samoa and they came back to St. Johnsbury last November, where she received a warm welcome from her large circle of Miss Ide was an exceptionally talented and beautiful young lady with a future that promised much usefulness and her death comes as a crushing blow to her father, with whom she had been so intimately associated since the death of Mrs. Ide in 1892, to the two younger sisters, Miss Annie H. and Miss Margie Ide, and to the wide circle of friends to whom she was endeared by so many attractive and noble traits of character.

The funeral was held at her late home on Pearl street Tuesday atternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. A. H. Heath of whose church she had been a member from childhood. Her pastor spoke very tenderly of her life and death and the lections. In the contest the reds scored Mahogany quartette, assisted by Mrs. P. F. Hazen, furnished the music. Court

School Celebration. - Washington's birthday was observed in several of the schools and attractive programmes were prepared and carried out. In Miss Wilde's room George and Martha Washington were represented by Edward Stafford and Mary Gibbs, quaintly attired in colonial costumes. This small "father of his country" and his worthy lady stood upon the platform and received the entire school, shaking hands with each one with great dignity. It was a ceremony nearly as imposing as a presidential reception of more recent date. The singing of patriotic songs, recitations and marching filled the hour, and at its close a large irosted birthday cake was cut and served to the scholars and their invited guests. In Mrs. Beck's room there were many empty seats, fully one-half of the school being absent by reason of sickness, but the exercises were most attractive and the dividing of a real Washington pie certainly helped to fix the day and its celebration in the minds of these little chil-
